Genesis Custom Homes - Specializing in New Beginnings

Award Winning Experience ~ Genesis Custom Homes has been building quality in the Texas Hill Country since 1997. A family-owned-and-operated business, we understand the vital creative link between the homeowner, the builder, the architect and the interior designer. The word Genesis best explains our true vision and is defined as a new beginning, the first, creation of something, birth of a vision, and the origin of something. This hands-on approach, from conceptual drawings to final walk-through, has earned us the unparalleled reputation of exceptional service. You can count on our professional character to provide you with excellent, seamless workmanship.

Today's homeowners are much more environmental and energy savvy. Genesis Owner and builder, Tim Powell, understands the value and importance of "Green Built" homes and constructs them to be energy efficient, environmentally responsible and maximize water conservation. Our plan is to accomplish all of this time and time again with each family. As a result, the process of building your Custom Home will become an exciting event to remember!

Tim and his professional staff are on your team throughout the building process and beyond. They provide construction management, cost administration, banking relationships and on-going customer service on every home.

Successful Relationships ~ Success is determined by relationships, and relationships are determined by character. Vital relationships require getting along with ourselves, with our families, with our life partner, with our children, with our businesses, churches, communities and most importantly, with God. True success involves proper relationships in all of these areas. If a person is successful in business but a failure in their marriage and family, they cannot be identified as truly successful. Customer loyalty and satisfaction over the years are what have made us successful. Our relationships begin with integrity and result in trust.

Understated Elegance ~ As today's homes become larger, the best looking homes are graceful and charming with attention to detail. We will guide you to ensure the building process meets all of your expectations.

Architectural Diversities ~ Genesis Custom Homes employs a variety of skilled architects with unique backgrounds, experience and styles. To include 3D, visual movie walk through, along with virtual tours to visually enhance the completion of your home long before it is built. From Italian Renaissance, Tuscan, Mediterranean, Texas Hill Country to French Country Eclectic and English Tudor, we strive to make every home unique and true to your style.

Tim and his exceptional team of professionals are delighted to welcome you to experience the Genesis Custom Homes design and building process, where exceeding your expectations become the highest priority. You will find that we offer the most competitive warranty in the industry today.

Outdoor living and entertaining spaces have become essential elements of today's homes. As the line between indoors and outdoors blend together, lifestyles demand complete outdoor rooms with all of the comfort, style and design required of indoor spaces.

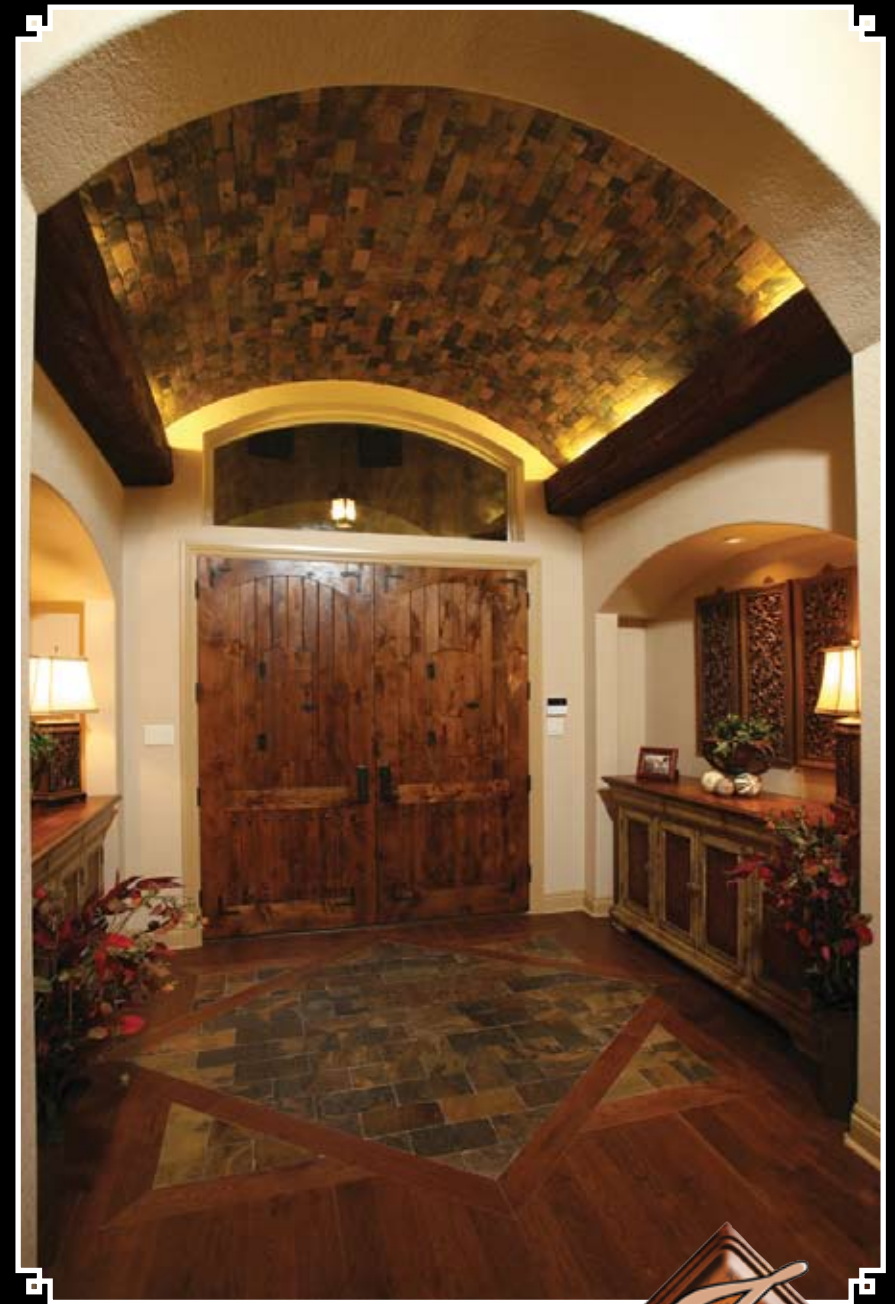

Genesis Custom Homes specializes in creating sophisticated spaces for your home - out in the open. Enjoy unparalleled living in the natural beauty of the Texas Hill Country.

Perfect Balance ~ As an investment, the value of owning a Genesis Custom Home is confirmed in the resale market. Many local realtors will tell you of the demand for our pre-owned homes.

We don't want to be just another "home builder". We want to be "the home builder of choice". In order to achieve this goal, we must exceed your expectations, and we go to great lengths to ensure this happens.

Unique ~ Genesis is truly a custom home builder that offers you unlimited possibilities. Our goal is to build your family retreat. Whether you desire a grand entry foyer, majestic winding staircase, intricately detailed woodwork, state-of-the-art kitchen, royal master retreat featuring superlative quality (or a distinctive backyard oasis) we are here to meet, and exceed, your every expectation.
